Letter from the President

In early October, Fr. Greg Boyle, S.J., Founder of Homeboy Industries, spoke to the Bellarmine faculty and staff. Fr. Boyle's ministry and story is a remarkable one – for almost 30 years, Fr. Boyle and his staff have been working with gang members in Los Angeles, helping to transform lives. Fr. Boyle is an incredible story teller, and he has many stories to tell – some quite moving and positive, and others absolutely heartbreaking. Fr. Boyle shared that the desire that he has for himself and all of those engaged in this work is to view situations with the “tender gaze of God.” This is, of course, a wonderful way of describing St. Ignatius' call to “find God in all things.” Those who work at Homeboy (which many years ago also expanded to include Homegirl), not only find God in all things, but seek to do so with God's tender gaze, lovingly considering how they can help do God's work here on Earth.

On October 18, Bellarmine was incredibly blessed to welcome back Viet Thanh Nguyen '88 to speak to the entire school. Now a Professor at USC, Dr. Nguyen was awarded the Pulitzer prize in 2016 for his novel The Sympathizer, which he was inspired to write in order to give a voice to the voiceless, as a New York Times review of his novel suggested. Nguyen, who grew up watching movies and reading books about the war in Vietnam, felt as though the Vietnamese experience was one that was strangely absent from the works that he read and viewed. As a refugee himself, he felt moved to tell the story from a different perspective. He shared with us a story about walking to his parents' downtown San Jose grocery store from St. Patrick's school, and seeing a sign in a window that read, “Another American driven out of business by the Vietnamese,” and how hurtful this was for him as a ten-year-old.

But as Dr. Nguyen grew, went to Bellarmine and later to UC Berkeley, he began to meet people with life experiences different from his own. Eventually, he shared how he came to believe deeply in the value of empathy – in truly trying to view the world from another's experience. He shared with us how he realized that not only was he hurt by the sign, but the person who wrote the sign also was hurting, and had a story to tell, as well. He implored us to seek peace not through a narrowing of our compassion and empathy, but through a broadening of it that would encourage us truly to listen to one another's stories, and deeply desire to understand another's perspective. It was a palpable example of what it looks like to practice that tender gaze of God.

I was similarly moved by the story of how Bellarmine's Mothers' Guild responded to the devastating impact that Hurricane Harvey had on the Houston area. Our moms reached out to our Jesuit schools in Houston – Strake Jesuit and Cristo Rey – to ask how they could best help. To their delight, the Houston moms responded with a tangible request that they could really use some blankets. So more than two dozen moms, led by Lenore Grant and Heidi Grassman, gathered on October 19 to hand-make 33 blankets to send to Houston, each one of which comes with a note, and three charms: a bell, a horseshoe, and a cross.

On October 20th, the school held a “Disaster Dollar Day”– the third such collection we have held this year. Historically, we have tried to limit such events, but this year, so many within the community have been moved to help the victims of the two major hurricanes that hit earlier this Fall, and on the 20th, to support victims of the fires in the North Bay. We are particularly moved to help the students and staff of Cardinal Newman High School, which lost a significant portion of their campus during the fires. Brad Barmore '00, opened his restaurants throughout the devastating fires, so that first responders and displaced residents could be together in community, eat, get something to drink, and be replenished to continue to fight the fires and recover from their impact.

We have so much to be thankful for – so many people who are viewing their world with God's tender gaze, and then responding to the situations they encounter with a great deal of love. We are grateful for your support of our school and our students, who are learning this wonderful life lesson, and impacting the world for the good.

Editor's Note

This edition of Bellarmine College Prep Magazine features the Annual Report of Giving reflecting gifts made to the school from July 1, 2016 to June 30, 2017.

As you peruse the pages, we hope you recognize that the information contained in this publication goes well beyond lists of donors and giving levels. Additionally, it helps tell a story about the generosity of our benefactors who provide inspiring support for our mission and for our students.

While it is easy to quantify financial gifts in our Annual Report, what is also essential to the success of Bellarmine is the selfless support provided by members of our community that give so much of themselves in time and talent. Groups such as the Mothers' Guild, Dads' Club, Alumni Council, Boards of Regents and Trustees, Alumni Mothers' Extended Network (AMEN) and Dads of Grads (DOGs), who, in partnership with our faculty, staff, and the Bellarmine Jesuit Community, go above and beyond their respective roles to advance opportunities for our students.

We are grateful beyond words, but please allow me to use just five words to summarize: Thank you for your goodness.

Warm regards,

From the Principal's Office

Each day I walk around campus, I am struck by how blessed we are at Bellarmine. As I watch Physics 9 students measure velocity by launching small cars down ramps, I appreciate their creativity and enthusiasm. When their first attempt sends the car off into the wrong direction, they try again...and again. They remind me that it is okay to experiment; it is okay to learn from my mistakes.

Students like Scott Sunseri '19 remind me to slow down and celebrate the life that God has given me. Recently, Scott organized over 30 therapy dogs to visit campus during lunch to reduce student stress and to celebrate all that his classmates had accomplished throughout the first quarter. God's presence was felt in the joy and laughter that permeated the quad that afternoon.

Each October, we hold an on-campus overnight retreat for all freshman. The retreat is designed to welcome students into the Bellarmine brotherhood, and it is an opportunity for students to reflect upon God's presence in their relationships with others. Over 100 Big Brothers model servant leadership for the freshmen as they lead the retreat.

Finally, each day I hear Fr. Shimney joyously shout, "GO BELLS!" or see Fr. Cobb calmly tutoring students in the Academic Resource Center, I am grateful for the opportunity to work side-by-side with the Jesuits. In a recent edition of Mission, the Jesuits West Province magazine, they reminded us of our responsibility as a Jesuit institution: "We exist to actively serve. We are contemplatives in action. We are a Force for Good." The Jesuits who I know and work with model this for me each and every day. Fr. Wade teaches me what it means to care for those around me; Fr. Moodie models academic rigor in the classroom; and Fr. Prietto embodies joy and passion. Their work and companionship are true blessings for me and the entire Bellarmine community.

Thank you for all the ways you support and inspire us to be "men and women for and with others."

Immersion Reflection

by Samuel Yi '18

Through Bellarmine's Christian Service Program (CSP), students submit reflection papers based upon their service and immersion experiences. The following is a reflection written by Bellarmine student Samuel Yi '18, used with permission. It provides insight into the significance of our immersion program from the perspective of a current student.

Teaching students English in rural Tanzania proved to be one of the most wholesome and heartfelt experiences of my CSP career. In a community that spoke Maasai as their first language and Swahili as their second, their requirement to be apt in the English language was another lingual burden the students had to overcome, and it was my and my peers' job to educate them properly.

Sam Yi '18 and new 6th grade friends in Tanzania

I was assigned to teach 6th graders, describing the roles of irregular verbs in sentences and clarifying the past, present, and future tenses. Trying to organize the kids and telling them to repeat what I say, although excruciatingly tedious, taught me a valuable lesson of patience – taught from a totally different perspective. Usually I was the student who comprehended what the teacher said, and acted uncooperatively at times. However, viewing this from the position of a teacher raised my tolerance and my fascination in the intelligence of young minds. I met students who were incredibly driven to excel in their academics through whatever resources they had; every pencil, sheet of paper, and piece of chalk was valued and utilized to its greatest extent. It made me realize how I, a student with a computer that had access to hundreds of programs, took so much for granted with such resources which would help me excel immensely. I had to also learn the skill of understanding, as I was a person from a different world and a different culture, thus I had to adapt to their way of thinking and viewing things and embrace their lifestyle. I centered every sentence I wrote around topics that were familiar to them. I emphasized reading comprehension by tailoring characters and settings familiar to them, and I refined their spelling skills through various drawings of giraffes, sunflowers, and Mount Kilimanjaro.

When I first met my clients and their community, I was surprised by their hospitality and delight to have us. Much of their culture revolves around a tradition of giving to visitors, and although I was taken aback, I grew fond of this different perspective on formality. I saw the children at first as students who would be uncomfortable around the presence of people much more different in physical appearance. This was quite a misconception as they spent as much time as they could with me, examining my hair, playing football, or simply watching me intently on whatever activity I was doing. Through small conversation, teaching, and association, I realized that in terms of values, I share everything in common with those I serve. They are just as driven as me; they take each opportunity and utilize it to their greatest ability, and they never lose hope. This part startled me the most especially because of the abject poverty these people lived through, but their ability to persevere far exceeded my own. The children I served were joyful, inquisitive, respectful, and caring – I came to realize that these values were universal, exceeding past any cultural boundaries.

Prior to arriving in Tanzania, I attended various meetings that emphasized the necessity for security regarding our belongings. This constant repetition of this precaution, combined with my preconceived notion of violence and theft in developing countries, made me very protective of my backpacks and skeptical of locals. Although it is natural to be worried about theft to some extent, as the trip progressed I realized that there wasn't such a necessity to take as much precaution as I did. I purchased locks for my bags, constantly checked my pockets to ensure my camera was still inside, but this thought became so immature. The Tanzanian locals and their children showed respect to our property and had every level of decency towards what we owned. In hindsight I realized how immature and unnecessary many of the precautions were; I understand now that theft and violence aren't a culture in developing countries. They exist in the same way as other countries, and this notion of danger is just a cultural bias accentuated by media, ignorance, and fear.

I feel that I truly succeeded in fulfilling my community service. I was able to teach the students well in a healthy and structured environment, cooperated well with my peers in serving, and went out of my way to understand the situation of the clients and how I could best address their needs. Furthermore, my service extended past that of teaching. I spread my love and excitement to all the students who were near me, and I worked hard to understand and address the social injustice that exists in our world today. Some children even personally expressed their appreciation for my stay; they would give me beautiful adorned necklaces and bracelets while holding back their tears, and I realized how significant building a connection is while serving. These tokens of appreciation given by the children helped me learn how the way I served and my impact truly was apparent. I learned that my actions indeed made a difference. I learned that I am a sympathetic individual, and now an ardent supporter for the elimination of injustice in our world. In such a vast world with over 7 billion people, it pains me to know that starving children die every 5 minutes, or how 30% of the world isn't educated. However, with newfound knowledge and firsthand experience, I am eager to continue a life of addressing injustices in our world.

Bellarmino's message has always resonated in my mind when I serve. The saying "go forth and set the world on fire" truly ignited within me as I sojourned to the grasslands of Tanzania, spreading not only the insight of education, but values of love, joy, and compassion. Not only this, but the lessons in history about the causes of economic injustice or how colonialism has left an unforgiving mark on developing countries all inspire me to address these contemporary problems. Writing for the Bellarmine Political Review gave me the ability to both observe and analyze ways to address domestic and international political injustice, while our justice summit exemplified just how many young minds exist willing to reshape our world, raising my own morale. Finally, Bellarmine's own teachers live out a passion for social justice. Mr. Meyercord in his Short Story class often emphasizes a desire to improve the world, and various other teachers do so as well. By doing this, it directly influences students to work for a better cause in this world.

Every aspect of my life has been altered by the service I performed my four years at Bellarmine, and especially in Tanzania. Helping others gives me an opportunity to reflect upon my own lifestyle and how I can improve it, and it's helped me set a very clear goal; continue to dedicate my talents and efforts towards the amelioration of social injustice in the world.

National Merit Scholarship Semifinalists

Nineteen Bells were announced as semifinalists in the 2018 National Merit Scholarship (NMS) Program. Less than one percent of U.S. high school seniors are awarded this status, which is based upon the student's performance in the Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT). National semifinalists are the highest scoring entrants in each state, proportional to the state's percentage of graduating seniors as calculated against the national total.

To become a finalist, students must submit a detailed scholarship application, providing information regarding their academic record, participation in school and community activities, demonstrated leadership abilities and honors/awards received. Finalists will be named in February 2018, with those students eligible to receive National Merit Scholarship monies.

Congratulations to the following Bellarmine semifinalists:

On the afternoon of October 6, Bellarmine presented a TEDx event on the topic of free speech, which was moderated by Steve Pinkston, director of Bellarmine's Christian Service Program. The event, held in the Main Stage Theatre of the Sobrato Center for Humanities and the Arts, featured four prominent speakers, each presenting unique perspectives. "America's Free Speech Exceptionalism" was addressed by Nico Perrino, director of communications for the Foundation for Individual Rights in Education (FIRE). Zachary Wood, a Robert L. Bartley Fellow at The Wall Street Journal and president of Uncomfortable Learning at Williams College, spoke on, "Confronting Controversy: Broadening Intellectual Horizons Through Embracing Diversity of Opinion." Fr. Stephen Privett, S.J., chancellor of USF, and former principal at Bellarmine, provided insight into, "Eloquentia Perfecta: Speech in the Jesuit Tradition." And Mary Beth Boyer, Ed.D., director of online learning for JSerra Catholic High School, spoke on, "Keep the First Amendment Outside the Schoolhouse Gates."

Bellarmino Alumni Theatre Stages Successful Presentation

Last July, during a period of four days, Bellarmino Alumni Theatre (BAT) presented the drama "Swift Justice" as planned, despite the passing of its director and veteran instructor, Tom Alessandri '69 just weeks prior.

The play, written by former San Jose Mayor Tom McEnery '63 and his nephew, John McEnery '82, is based on the book written by the late San Jose Mercury News writer Harry Farrell. It chronicles events surrounding the 1933 kidnapping and murder of young Brooke Hart, a Bellarmino alumnus and heir to the Hart Department Store family fortune.

Brendan McCall '90, a performer in the play, stepped-in as director of the production that was well-received by audiences. The cast included David Koppel '89, Andrew Marks '13, Alejandro Shydrowski '16, Amy Choice, Sofia Dobrushin, Dan Findrick '87, Mark Maccora '99, Keith Larson '90, and Jack Jensen '17.

The crew included Sofia Dobrushin, assistant director; Corinne DiTullio, costume designer; Maren Lane, technical director; Rick Bacigalupi '80, documentarian; and Paul Bernal '80, resident historian.

Proceeds benefitted the school's Direct Financial Aid Fund. All cast and crew on this production donated their time and talent to maximize the funds that will provide tuition assistance.

STEM Campaign

The recent renovation during the summer of the ground floor classrooms in the James A. Carney Science Center is a significant part of Bellarmino's STEM and Innovation Campaign: Transformative Inspiration.

To accommodate additional Physics instructional spaces, and to meet the needs of today's students and teachers, two former Physics lecture rooms and laboratory were reconfigured into two much larger classrooms, with an appropriate lab setup within the classroom. Additionally, two other ground floor classrooms that were setup for life sciences have been transformed into optimal learning spaces for Physics.

The new classrooms place an emphasis on flexibility, with moveable tables, power suspended from the ceiling on coils to support activities while not being in the way when unneeded, a suspension grid that enables experiments and demonstrations, low-power tools for prototyping and building, and the technological support necessary to record data and draw conclusions to experiments. This new footprint is certain to help inspire innovation.

Classes may now seamlessly transition to the Leo J. and Mary G. Lucas Quad, where outdoor experiments can be conducted. Support spaces within the facility have been upgraded and modernized, providing teachers optimal space in which to collaborate, along with the necessary space to stage lab experiments. Restrooms throughout Carney have been renovated, and the building's HVAC system has been upgraded, providing air conditioning throughout.

The Carney renovation project is approximately one-half of the $6 million campaign that includes funding for the Robotics lab, Makerspace, an Innovation Endowment, and STEM Endowment.

Tree Blessing

An art exhibit featuring the photography of Bellarmine student Brentley Johnson '18 (using his artist name Brent Seats) took place September 21 through October 6 in the Mathewson Library Gallery. The "They Are Us" exhibition featured portraits of several members of the Bellarmine Jesuit Community: Fr. Jerry Wade, S.J. '55; Fr. Bob Shinney, S.J.; Mr. David Romero, S.J.; Fr. Mario Prietto, S.J.; and Fr. Dick Cobb, S.J.

The artist's statement about the project included the following: "As I thought about this project more, I realized that the Jesuits are seen as individuals who are not like us at all. As I talked to kids around me about the Jesuits, I saw an overarching theme of students making the Jesuits seem less human than they are; Seen as a very religious group who are seen separate from myself and my peers."

Brent's work of five Jesuits contrasted their clerical attire with everyday clothing. "Detailed shots of elbows, shoes, hands, etc. are to show how human they are, just like us," he noted. The exhibit included notes excerpted from interviews Brent had with each of his subjects.

Fiscal Year 2016-2017 | Annual Report of Giving Edition

Message from the Chairman of the Board of Trustees

As chairman of the Board of Trustees, I want to convey my gratitude to all who provide financial support to Bellarmine, such as the generous benefactors who made a gift to the school during the past fiscal year as noted in this Annual Report of Giving.

Bellarmino relies on the generosity of many to provide the resources necessary to deliver an outstanding, Catholic, Jesuit educational experience for our students. The unique academic and co-curricular programs offered by Bellarmine are the result of gifts received from those who believe in our mission, whether they are current parents, students, alumni, parents of alumni, foundations, organizations, or friends of this institution.

I would also like to express my appreciation to the faculty and staff of Bellarmine for the roles they play, both inside and outside of the classroom, in the development of men for and with others; to my dedicated colleagues on the Boards of Regents and Trustees, especially Matt Medeiros, vice chair of the Trustees; Andy Schatzman, chair of the Regents, and Pat Arnold '84, vice-chair of the Regents; and to the administration, led by president Chris Meyercord '88 and principal Kristina Luscher.

Thank you all for making such a positive difference in the lives of our students.

Sincerely,

Andrew Moley '82

BELLARMINA

Message from the Director of Development

Dear Bellarmine Benefactors,

Because of you, Bellarmine's fundraising had a banner year, and we cannot thank you enough. What you provide, though, is more than your dollars—it is your confidence and dedication to advancing our mission and, in doing so, also helping us continue the evermore important work of the Society of Jesus.

In this season of thanks, it might seem somewhat hollow to simply say, "thank you," as it doesn't quite capture the fullness of heart our school has because of your support. In his letter of gratitude, one of our Bellarmine sophomores said it much better than I can: "Without your generosity, I would have gone to a different school and I would have stayed complacent and introverted. Without your kindness, I would never have been a part of a great community that is becoming better every day. Without your compassion, I would not have the opportunity to teach the future Bells the same lessons I have learned about how to be a "man for and with others." You make that possible!

Whether your contribution was for The Bellarmine Fund, Direct Financial Aid Fund, our signature events such as the Golf Classic, Fashion Show, or the Golden Bell, our endowment, capital projects, or #BellsGive, your support enables Bellarmine to continue to be a leader and provide unmatched opportunities, programs, and community. We stand on the shoulders of the people who came before us and, because of your generosity, future supporters will stand on your shoulders. Our 1,650 young men are better students, companions, and servant leaders because of you.

On behalf of my colleagues, and my own family, thank you for being incredible supporters. May God bless you and yours, and our Bellarmine community.

Sincerely yours,

David J. Holquin
Director of Development

President's Award Recipient 2016-2017

“What the Jesuits did for me can never be repaid. They changed my whole life, and continue to do so.”

2016 President's Award Recipient
Edgar M. Thrift, Jr. '61

Those words are essential to understanding Edgar M. Thrift, Jr. '61, and why he is so passionate about Bellarmine College Preparatory.

Ed, who was raised in San Jose as the eldest of four children, is the son of the late Edgar M. Thrift, Sr. '26, an IRS agent who was a member of the first Bellarmine class to graduate from the then new campus at College Park; and of the late Evelyn Thrift, a bookkeeper and entrepreneur, from whom Ed learned much about business.

As a youth, Ed toiled on some 60 acres at the family's ranch on Summit Road. The pear and apple trees bore more than tasty fruit. On those orchards, lessons about hard labor and the importance of a good work ethic were also grown.

A product of Catholic education, including St. Leo the Great School, Bellarmine College Prep, and Santa Clara University, he refers to Bellarmine as, “the delight of my life.” This, despite his claim to having been the recipient of JUG (Justice Under God) every week. “I wasn't the class clown. I was just the one that got caught,” he says with a smile. Ed gives that distinction to classmate Mike Doherty '61. “He told the jokes, and I laughed.”

One positive outcome of receiving so many JUGs was the friendship that Ed developed with then vice-principal Fr. Joseph Costa, S.J. '41, whose voice was frequently heard over the public address system, echoing throughout the campus, summoning young Mr. Thrift to report to study hall after school with Prose and Poetry book in hand. Although these sessions did not lead to a greater appreciation of literature, Ed considered himself a good student, recalling that, “Studying was cool at Bellarmine.”

His years at Bellarmine prepared him well for following in his father's footsteps and attending Santa Clara University, where Ed received a B.S in management and subsequently an M.B.A. While attending business school, Ed entered the world of real estate, initially selling houses. This eventually led to a successful career as a commercial real estate developer at Lincoln Property Company LPC, and Legacy Partners LPC, for which he was president until stepping down in 2000.

Bellarmine also prepared Ed for living the school's motto of being a Man For and With Others. Among his most transformative philanthropic endeavors was the founding in 1989 of “Our House,” a shelter and outreach program for runaway youth that was established as part of Emergency Housing Consortium, the San Jose-based nonprofit agency now known as Home First.

Ed's involvement at Bellarmine includes having served on its Board of Regents from 1985-2003, of which he is a past chair, previous positions on several committees and a capital campaign task force, and active engagement as a mentor to students through the annual Senior Networking Luncheon. His generous financial support is exemplary, and includes membership in the Mater Dei Legacy Society as Bellarmine is a beneficiary through Ed's estate planning.

Ed and his wife, Gail, recently celebrated their 26th year of marriage. They enjoy their time in Capitola and Idaho with their five grandchildren, as well as with Ed's son, Edgar M. Thrift, III, and daughter, Terri Noto. When he's not busy with real estate development, one is likely to find Ed running, practicing yoga, praying, or meditating. He just recently began taking piano lessons. Gail is a volunteer with Seat of the Soul, an institute founded by spiritual teacher and author Gary Zukav.

Ed's “most spiritual experience” was his 1996 trek to Nepal, which happens to coincide with his choice of hairstyle. Yet, don't read anything deep into Ed's trademark ponytail. “It's just easy,” he said.

His philosophy of philanthropy is not unlike his business philosophy: “You lead from the front.” That explains Ed's passion for mentoring youth, which can be traced back to the lessons he learned from the Jesuits at Bellarmine. “They have a purpose. They want to teach young men to make a difference in the world.” We are grateful to Ed for his leadership, his generous support of Bellarmine and its mission, and for truly making a difference in the lives of others. For these reasons, and so many more, we were proud to honor Edgar M. Thrift, Jr. '61 as the recipient of the 2016 President's Award.

BELLSGIVE

Honor the past | Celebrate the present | Shape the future

The inaugural #BELLSGIVE fundraising campaign, which occurred on May 8 — the date of the institution's first day of classes in 1851 — was extremely successful. As our theme indicated, this was an opportunity to honor the past, celebrate the present, and shape the future. Leading up to May 8, videos and social media posts reminded us of what makes Bellarmine such a special community for all. Our focus was on participation, and our community certainly participated. The effort resulted in the participation of 1,476 donors and the raising of $355,060, which included a match of $147,600. We are grateful to all who supported Bellarmine through #BELLSGIVE and look forward to another successful campaign in the spring.

Planned Giving

The 411 on QCDs of RMDs

by Bill Colucci, Esq. '82 Director, Planned Giving

Oftentimes in life, we must do things we don't want to do. For my students it might be a term paper or reading assignment. For me, it might be perfecting a dance or attending a meeting. For those of a certain age who have Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs), that might be taking your Required Minimum Distribution (RMD). And while, like Bartleby the Scrivener, we might wish to say, "I would prefer not to," we often cannot do so.

Whether you are currently in a situation where you must take an RMD or are approaching that stage of your life, I may have a solution so that your "I would prefer not to" may turn into an "I would be happy to do so."

If you are aged 70-1/2, Internal Revenue Service rules require you to take required minimum distributions each year from your tax-deferred retirement accounts. These required distributions may push you into a higher tax bracket and/or make you ineligible to take certain tax credits and deductions. A Qualified Charitable Distribution (QCD) may be able to minimize the impact of a required minimum distribution on your tax situation.

A QCD is a direct transfer of funds from the custodian of your Individual Retirement Account (IRA) made payable to a qualified charity of your choice. The QCD can be counted toward satisfying your RMD for the year, provided certain rules are met. (These rules are not of a great surprise; it is the IRS we're talking about). Subject to those rules, you can accomplish two great goals: You are supporting a charity (say, Bellarmine College Preparatory, for instance) and all the great work it does. Also, by making a QCD, the amount you provide will not be included in your taxable income. By reducing your taxable income, you may reap the benefits of other tax credits or deductions that are phased out over higher income levels.

So, what are the basic rules for a QCD? First, to be eligible, you must be 70-1/2 years old. The maximum amount that qualifies for a QCD is $100,000. Of course, lesser amounts work, as well. The funds must come out of your IRA by your RMD deadline date, which is generally December 31. The funds must be transferred directly from your IRA custodian to the qualified charity, which must be a 501 (c)(3) organization eligible to receive tax-deductible contributions. The IRA custodian can issue a check payable to the charity. (Note: If the distribution check is made payable to you, even if you immediately give it to a charity, there is no QCD, and you will have to include the distribution in your taxable income). Finally, you may only make a QCD from an IRA. Company plans, such as 401(k)s and 403(b)s, are not eligible for QCDs.

For those of you whose retirement plans are not eligible for QCDs, fret not. You can still fulfill your charitable goals by naming Bellarmine as the beneficiary of your retirement account to help save your individual beneficiaries some tax headaches down the road.

As always, please check with your estate planning attorney and your tax advisor to make sure such a gift works as an effective strategy for your unique charitable goals and financial situation.

If we can be of assistance in any way, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Bellarmino Explores Race Relations as its Justice Theme

Bellarmine began the school year August 22 with the Mass of the Holy Spirit. Concelebrated by the Bellarmine Jesuit Community, the homily was delivered by the school's president, Chris Meyercord '88.

In his remarks, which included a welcome to members of the Class of 2021 as well as to all returning students, Meyercord addressed the school's justice theme for the year: Understanding Race in the 21st Century.

"One of the things that we celebrate most often here at Bellarmine is the brotherhood that we enjoy," Meyercord told the students. "I appreciate that image of you all as brothers. Part of being a brother is helping one another to be better, and that's what these conversations about race are going to challenge us to do. Because we know that when we confront our challenges honestly and head-on, we're going to learn and grow in the process, and be better for it."

Among the speakers participating during the year are alumnus Viet Thanh Nguyen '88, the Pulitzer Prize-winning author and USC professor who, in October, spoke about what it was like to be Asian at Bellarmine when he attended in the mid-to-late 1980s; and San Jose Police Chief Eddie Garcia, who in January will share the challenges police officers face and how they are seeking to bridge divides and overcome fears in the community.

The justice theme, coordinated by faculty members Joe Cussen, Rod Theodule '98, and Carlos Jimenez '02, will culminate in the spring with a Justice Week Summit on Human Dignity. Previous justice themes at Bellarmine have included poverty, human trafficking, sustainability, immigration, and hunger.

Philip Ingrassia '04 writes, "Once I graduated, I moved on to receive my Bachelor of Science Magna Cum Laude from the Boston Conservatory of Music, majoring in Dance Performance with a focus in Ballet and Modern Dance. I then moved on to dance with Charleston Ballet Theater for one year. In 2010 I joined as a Corps de Ballet member with the Columbia City Ballet, was promoted to Soloist in my third year, and then up to Principal Dancer in my seventh year. I will continue dancing with the company in the upcoming year as a Principal Dancer. I have had two major ballets choreographed on me (The Little Prince and Peter Pan), as well as dancing major roles in several other productions; Puck in A Midsummer Night's Dream, Jonathan Harker in Dracula for several years, Mercurio in Romeo and Juliet, and several other notable roles. I also perform with many side schools and companies in the area. I attribute a lot of my success to the discipline from Bellarmine. Being a man for others has made me stand out in a very cut-throat industry. While many will do whatever it takes to rise to the top, I strove to be kind and supportive to my coworkers and fellow artists. It's that very quality that has helped me develop a name for myself in this market. Again, I give a lot of credit to the teachings of Bellarmine."

Andre Chapman '11 graduated from UCLA in 2016 and decided to continue running track. "Now I am running professionally and made it to USA National Championships!" ↘

alumni | stay connected

We want to know what's new in the lives of our alumni. To provide information and pictures for consideration in future editions of Bellarmine College Prep Magazine, please email Matt Zuniga, Director of Alumni Relations, at: mzuniga@bcp.org

Stay connected to the Bellarmine Alumni network. If you are changing your job or home address, please reach out to the Bellarmine Alumni Office at: stayconnected@bcp.org or update your information directly at: www.gobells.org by signing into your alumni profile account. We will then update your records in the school's database.

Why stay connected? We need your contact details to notify you regarding alumni programs, events, job opportunities, class reunions or related developments here at Bellarmine College Prep.

It's a great time to be a Bellarmine graduate. No matter where you live, no matter where you are in life—just beginning your career or just beginning your retirement – our alumni have more opportunities than ever to stay connected to Bellarmine and to each other.

Are you on social media? Join the more than 5,000 Bells who stay in touch through Bellarmine's official alumni Facebook group (www.facebook.com/gobells) or join the conversation on Twitter (www.twitter.com/bellarman). If you are looking to network, the Bellarmine Alumni group on LinkedIn is a great place to start. Whether you use one or all BCP alumni social media outlets, we'll make sure you stay connected!

NOTE: LinkedIn University Page launches for Bellarmine Alumni and Students! This is a great resource for finding connections at companies for which you want to work, or in the new city to which you have just moved. For alumni who have been out of school a little longer, it's a good place to find connections at the companies you work for and/or with on a regular basis. Here's the easy part: If you're already on LinkedIn (and you've indicated you attended Bellarmine), you will need to remove Bellarmine from your profile, and re-add it to your profile page. As you type "Bellarmine" in the education field, it should auto-populate. If you're not on LinkedIn, create a profile today to see what it's all about. Staying plugged in to your alma mater keeps you up-to-date on your classmates' careers, news on campus, and job opportunities. Plus it helps the next generation of students better understand the variety of opportunities open to them in their careers.

Facebook Luncheon

Bellarmino's Office of Alumni Relations hosted the 2nd annual alumni luncheon at Facebook headquarters in Menlo Park on August 1. The event was attended by 15 alumni who received an update about the school from principal Kristina Luscher, president Chris Meyercord '88, and director of alumni relations Matt Zuniga '06. Special thanks to Chanan Walia '16 for his efforts in organizing the luncheon. "It was a fun-filled day, meeting alumni at their workspace and learning more about the ways they incorporate the values they learned at Bellarmine into their work and personal life," noted Zuniga following the event.

Alumni Bocce Tournament

More than 100 alumni gathered for the 22nd Annual Fr. Joe Costa, S.J. '41 Bocce Ball Tournament at Campo di Bocce in Los Gatos on July 22. After an undefeated pool play round and 3-0 playoff run, the tournament champions were Steve Giachetti '92, Frank Bisceglia '64, Thomas Bisceglia '97 and Jim Foley '97. Special thanks to sponsors Bill Baron '81 and Cinnabar Hills Golf Club; The Genztkow Family; and Campo di Bocce for their support.

Grand Reunion Weekend

Hundreds Enjoy Alumni Tailgate

Alumni from the classes of 1972, 1977, 1982, 1987, 1992, 1997, 2002 and 2007 were welcomed back to campus on September 8 and 9 for Grand Reunion Weekend.

On September 8, several alumni shadowed current students and sat-in on 6th and 7th period classes. Later that afternoon, more than 900 guests attended the 36th Annual Alumni Football Tailgate held at San Jose City College before the Bells faced-off with Gonzaga Prep in an all Jesuit prep school gridiron matchup.

The next evening, about 240 Bell alumni and guests attended a dinner held in their honor on campus, preceded by Mass in the Leotyne Chapel with Fr. Ed Harris, S.J. presiding.

In Memoriam

Tom Alessandri '69 died suddenly on June 3. Fondly known as "T.A." by countless students whom he taught or directed during his four decades of service to Bellarmine, Tom received numerous recognitions for his efforts as a teacher, including the 1984 Williams College Olmstead Award for Excellence in High School Teaching; 1993 Outstanding Teacher Award from University of Chicago; 1995, 1998 & 2000 Dorothy Wright Award for Teaching Excellence from San Jose State University; and 2001 Outstanding High School Teacher from University of California San Diego. Among those survived by Tom are his wife and Bellarmine staff member, Judy Bury Alessandri; two daughters, Kate and Maren, a Bellarmine theatre staff member; and granddaughter Mia. More than 1,000 people attended a July 1 celebration of Tom's life held on the Bellarmine campus.

Fr. Carlo Farina, S.J. '51 died on May 22. Born in Los Angeles, his family moved to San Jose around 1940, and he attended St. Leo's school and then Bellarmine College Prep. Father Farina was a Jesuit for 66 years, and a priest for almost 53 years. He served the Bellarmine community in a variety of ministries in the early 1960s and again from 1999 to 2008, including teaching English, chairing the English department, working with boarding students, and working in the Office of Alumni Relations. He is survived by his twin sister, Maria Menard, nieces, and nephews.

Julio A. Fernandez '36 passed away September 20, at the age of 100. Julio had been Bellarmine's oldest living alumnus, and was a constant presence at Grand Reunion events each year. In addition to his wife of 66 years, Dorothy, survivors include several Bellarmine alumni, including his sons Stephen '69 and David, Sr. '73; and his brothers Victor '41, and Michael '48. He was predeceased by his brothers Gabriel '36 and Joseph '40. {Pictured: On hand while Julio (seated) receives a Bell alumnus shirt are (from left) wife Dorothy, nephew Joe Teresi '76, son David, Sr. '73, brother Michael '48, and Fr. Jerry Wade, S.J. '55.}

Diego Amaya '20 passed away on August 9. Diego, who became a Bell after graduating from Sacred Heart Nativity School, was a devoted son and brother whose dream was always to attend Bellarmine. He is remembered in our community for his sense of duty, loyalty to his friends, selflessness, and his desire to honor his parents' sacrifices by following his brother's footsteps in being the first in their family to go to college. Among those family members survived by Diego are his parents, and older brother, Carlos, a former Bellarmine student.

Jerome Smith '54 died peacefully at his home in Saratoga on May 7. As retired Associate Justice of the California Court of Appeal in San Francisco, Jerry pursued his artistic talents, including his skills as a sculptor. Among his works are the statues of Robert Cardinal Bellarmine and Ignatius Loyola on the Bellarmine campus. He served on the Saratoga City Council beginning in 1968, and in 1972 he became the Mayor of Saratoga. In 1974, and again in 1978, Jerry was elected to represent the 12th Senatorial District in the California Legislature. His most notable legislation included the California Coastal Act that preserves the California coastline, the Victims of Crime Act that provides assistance to victims of violent crime, and the California Conservation Corps Act, which provides training and work opportunities for young people with an emphasis on conserving and enhancing natural resources.

Daniel Cole '19 passed away in his sleep on January 31. The Bellarmine student previously attended The Waldorf School of the Peninsula. Daniel was passionate about sports, both as a participant and as an avid fan. He loved the Golden State Warriors and, in addition to playing football, basketball and soccer, he enjoyed hiking in the mountains, skiing, fishing, boating and traveling with family and friends. Daniel is remembered for his dry sense of humor, and for his constant love of life. Among family members Daniel leaves behind are his mother, Sandra Olson and her partner, Michael Wong; his father, Michael Cole and his partner Alicia Brown; twin sister Ellie Cole; and grandmother Gloria Sugarman.

Nominate a Bell for the Alumni Hall of Fame

The Bellarmine Hall of Fame on April 7, 2018 honors a graduate's ongoing commitment to be a man for and with others in his chosen profession, as inspired by the experience of the Jesuit magis. As a reflection of our Ignatian values, we will recognize individuals whose efforts exemplify that commitment in the following categories: athletics, business, humanities/fine arts, public service, and science/medicine.

MISSION STATEMENT

Bellarmino College Preparatory is a community of men and women gathered together by God for the purpose of educating the student to seek justice and truth throughout his life. We are a Catholic school in the tradition of St. Ignatius of Loyola, the Founder of the Society of Jesus. As such, our entire school program is dedicated to forming “Men For and With Others”—persons whose lives will be dedicated to bringing all their God-given talents to fullness and to living according to the pattern of service inaugurated by Jesus Christ.
